ED SNIDER

CHAIRMAN

Ed Snider has been Philadelphia's leader in sports and entertainment for more than 30 years. In that time, he founded the Philadelphia Flyers, developed two major arenas, created two cable television channels, started the world's largest arena management company and engineered one of the largest sports mergers in the country.

In 1966, the National Hockey League expanded for the first time, adding six new teams to the six existing teams. Ed believed that hockey would succeed in Philadelphia, and fought hard to bring a new franchise to the city. He succeeded, and the Flyers were born in 1966. The Flyers needed a home, so Ed spearheaded the development of the Spectrum in 1967, and by 1971, had assumed control of the arena.

In 1974, Ed created Spectacor, a management company to oversee the Flyers and the Spectrum. Under Ed's direction, Spectacor founded new businesses over the years, including PRISM, a regional premium cable television channel that broadcast home games of the Flyers, 76ers and Phillies; Spectacor Management Group, the world's largest manager of public assembly facilities; Spectacor Films, which produces broadcast and cable television movies; and TicketMaster of Delaware Valley, one of the most successful licensees of TicketMaster. Spectacor also acquired several businesses, including HTN Associates, the country's largest provider of satellite transmission services for sports broadcasting, and WIP Radio, which Spectacor converted into the country's first truly all-sports radio station. Both entities were sold at a time when each was the industry leader in its field.

Spectacor's most ambitious undertaking began in 1988, when Ed decided that the Flyers needed a new home to remain competitive in the NHL. It took eight years from conception to completion, but today the CoreStates Center stands as a tribute to Ed's perseverance and foresight. The $210 million facility now defines state-of-the-art for arenas.

In March 1996, Ed entered into a merger agreement with Comcast Corporation. Under the agreement, Ed contributed the Flyers, their new AHL affiliate the Phantoms, the CoreStates Center and the CoreStates Spectrum to the new venture. Comcast contributed the Philadelphia 76ers. The new venture then entered into a partnership with the Phillies to create a new regional sports channel.

Ed's successes have been recognized by his peers. He was elected to the Hockey Hall of Fame in 1988, and serves on the NHL's Executive Committee. He is a recipient of the Lester Patrick Award for outstanding service to hockey in the United States, and has been elected to the Pennsylvania Sports Hall of Fame and the Flyers Hall of Fame.

In 1985, Ed received a honorary Doctor of Humane Letters from Hahnemann University. He is also a Benefactor and Advisory Board Member of the Sol C. Snider Entrepreneurial Center of the Wharton School of the University of Pennsylvania, and a member of the Board of Overseers of the Wharton School. Other board memberships include the Institute for Cancer and Blood Diseases at Allegheny University Hospital, the Institute for Objectivist Studies, and the Simon Weisenthal Center.

Ed and his wife, Martha, reside in suburban Philadelphia with their daughter, Sarena, and son, Samuel. His other children are: sons, Craig and Jay; and daughters, Lindy and Tina; and eight grandchildren.

PAT CROCE

PRESIDENT

"All your dreams will come true provided you have the courage to pursue them."

With those simple words of Walt Disney, Pat Croce took control as the new president of the Philadelphia 76ers on March 19, 1996.

Anyone unfamiliar with Pat might consider it extraordinary for someone to progress from being the team's strength and conditioning coach to president and part-owner. But for those who have followed his career and have experienced his fierce drive and ambition, few are surprised. Unconventional? Perhaps, but Pat Croce has never followed traditional routes.

The oldest of four boys in a close-knit family, Pat spent his early childhood in North Philadelphia in the shadows of Connie Mack Stadium. Pat learned at an early age the value of hard work and the belief that dreams could come true. Those concepts would soon be put to the test.

A 1977 cum laude graduate of the University of Pittsburgh, Pat's love for sports in general, and football in particular, landed him on the doorstep of the Philadelphia Eagles where he sought a job with the team's training staff. It could have been numbers, or a lack of experience, or any one of a number of things, but that door to his dreams would never be opened.

Displaying persuasive skills that would serve him well in the business world, it was soon after that rejection that Pat convinced Haverford Community Hospital to convert two old operating rooms into a state-of-the-art sports medicine facility.

Pat made his initial connection in the world of professional sports in 1980 as the conditioning coach for Bobby Clarke and the Philadelphia Flyers hockey team. Several years later, Pat opened the first of his Sports Physical Therapists centers in a small office building in Broomall, Pa. An early client was a fairly recognizable basketball player, 76ers forward Julius Erving. But "Dr. J" wasn't Pat's first high-profile client, baseball Hall of Famer Mike Schmidt was one of Pat's earliest and most ardent followers. In fact, after Schmidt won the National League Most Valuable Player Award in 1986, Pat was one of those whom the Phillies third baseman thanked.

Pat's emphasis on superior service and quality propelled the growth of his centers, earned them the Greater Philadelphia Quality Award and made them a finalist for the Malcolm Baldrige National Quality Award. "I've always believed that service, above all else, must be the No. 1 objective," Pat said. "If your product is superior in nature, and supported by outstanding service, you can't fail."

By 1993, Pat had 40 centers in 11 states. He then merged his centers with NovaCare, Inc., a national rehabilitation provider, and set his sites on even higher goals.

As driven to serve the community as he is to succeed in business, Pat serves as honorary chairman of the Juvenile Diabetes Foundation and the National Multiple Sclerosis Society. He also is a member of the board of directors of PAL and St. Christopher's Hospital For Children.

Pat also is an international karate champion, a Harley rider, author and a three-time patent holder. Above everything, though, Pat is a dedicated family man. He and his wife of 19 years, Diane, reside in suburban Philadelphia with their two children, Kelly and Michael.

76ERS BASKETBALL STAFF

Brad Greenberg

GENERAL MANAGER/ VICE PRESIDENT OF BASKETBALL OPERATIONS

Only the eighth general manager in Philadelphia 76ers history, Brad Greenberg was appointed to his position on May 8, 1996. His background includes a wealth of basketball experience at both the college and professional levels.

A native of Long Island, NY, Brad (42) spent the past eight seasons with the Portland Trail Blazers, where he was director of player personnel and head scout before being elevated to the position of vice president, player personnel.

While at Portland he helped build a team that had a six-year winning percentage of .653; acquired or recruited such players as Buck Williams, Rod Strickland, Danny Ainge, Cliff Robinson and Drazen Petrovic; reorganized and managed an eight-person scouting staff which monitored more than 3,000 prospects in North America; and designed an extensive scouting data base that assimilates information from thousands of reports and was used as a model by other NBA clubs.

On the court, he spent two seasons as assistant coach/director of player personnel with the Los Angeles Clippers, and was with the New York Knicks as an assistant for one year.

Brad is very familiar with the Philadelphia basketball scene, having spent six years as an assistant coach at St. Joseph's University, three under current Washington Bullets coach Jim Lynam. In his six seasons there, the teams posted a record of 141-45, including two NCAA tournaments and three NIT postseason appearances.

Prior to his coaching stint at St. Joseph's, Brad was an aide to Lynam for one year at American University, after playing at the school as a starting point guard and two-year captain.

Basketball is a big part of the Greenberg family. Brad's brother Seth is the head coach at the University of South Florida, while wife Fran is a former Hoop Magazine columnist, and director of public relations for the Continental Basketball Association. Brad, Fran, their son Cory (10) and daughter Ali (5) reside in Villanova, PA.

Johnny Davis

HEAD COACH

The 1996-97 season marks the debut of Johnny Davis as a head coach in the NBA. He became the 16th head coach in Philadelphia 76ers history on June 10, 1996, succeeding John Lucas.

Johnny (41) was an assistant coach with the Portland Trail Blazers for the past two seasons, and had been an assistant with the Los Angeles Clippers and Atlanta Hawks. In addition, he was director of community relations for Atlanta, and president of the Atlanta Hawks Foundation, a non-profit charity arm of the club.

An outstanding guard at the University of Dayton, Johnny was a second-round draft choice of the Trail Blazers in 1976, and averaged eight points in 79 regular-season games. Only a rookie, he gained a starting role midway through the playoffs, averaged 13.1 points over the last 11 games and was instrumental in Portland's drive to the 1977 NBA championship. The title-winning game, ironically, was a 109-107 victory over the 76ers.

In his 10-year NBA career, which included stops in Atlanta, Indiana and Cleveland, Johnny averaged 12.9 points and 4.5 assists, and made 82 percent of his free throws. He played in 750 games.

His coaching philosophy is "to create and maintain a standard of excellence within the team that will give it an opportunity to be successful."

Johnny enjoys traveling, especially to foreign lands, and his love of music has resulted in an extensive collection of jazz recordings. He and his wife Lezli, and their sons Reginald (15) and Austin (12), reside in Bryn Mawr, PA.

Ed Badger

ASSISTANT COACH

Starting his first year in Philadelphia, Ed Badger has more than 40 years of basketball experience at all levels of the game. For the past two seasons he has been an assistant coach and scout for the Miami Heat. He also has performed in various capacities for the Indiana Pacers, Atlanta Hawks, Charlotte Hornets, Boston Celtics and Cleveland Cavaliers.

Ed was head coach of the Chicago Bulls from 1976-78, compiling a record of 84-79, and was runner-up for the NBA's Coach of the Year award in 1977.

In addition to his professional background, Ed has also been a successful college coach. He was head coach at the University of Cincinnati for five years, and spent 16 seasons at Wilbur Wright Junior College in Chicago. In 1985, he was inducted into the National Junior College Hall of Fame.

Ed and his wife Juanita have four children — Jacqueline, Steve, Diane and Van — and reside in suburban Philadelphia.

Maurice Cheeks

ASSISTANT COACH

One of the most popular players in 76ers history, Maurice Cheeks returns for his third season as an assistant coach.

An outstanding playmaker and one of the top defensive guards in NBA history, Maurice will work extensively with the younger guards, as well as handle other coaching responsibilities.

Maurice spent 14 seasons in the NBA (11 with Philadelphia) before retiring following the 1992-93 season. He ranks second on the NBA all-time steals list (2,310), fifth in assists (7,392) and 10th in games played (1,001). He made the NBA All-Defensive first team four times and the second team once.

The 76ers honored Maurice by retiring his jersey, No. 10, on Feb. 6, 1995.

He is single and resides in Philadelphia.

Bob Ociepka

ASSISTANT COACH

Bob Ociepka joins the Philadelphia organization after spending the past three seasons with the Los Angeles Clippers, where he was an assistant coach and head NBA scout.

He also performed in the same roles for the Indiana Pacers from 1989-93, and is recognized as one of the top "X-and-O" assistants in the NBA.

Bob started his career in the pros as a part-time scout for the Detroit Pistons while coaching high school basketball. For 19 years, he was highly successful in his native Chicago, coaching Gordon Tech and York High School.

A two-year starter at Quincy (IL) College, he has authored a book, Basketball Playbook: Plays From The Pros (published in 1995) which gives an overview of NBA strategies. Bob, his wife Anne, and daughter Katie (14), reside in suburban Philadelphia.

Gene Shue

DIRECTOR OF PLAYER PERSONNEL

Gene Shue is entering his fifth season as the Sixers' director of player personnel, the latest step in a highly visible career in the NBA as a player, coach and general manager.

His duties include evaluating talent, helping to prepare for the draft, preparing and coordinating the preseason schedule, and working on the annual rookie/free agent and veterans camp.

Gene logged 23 seasons as an NBA head coach, and twice earned Coach of the Year honors. He is joined by Bill Fitch, Don Nelson and Cotton Fitzsimmons as the only two-time winners of the award.

Gene began his coaching career with the Baltimore Bullets. During his six years at the helm, the team won four Eastern Division titles and made five playoff appearances. In his four seasons in Philadelphia, the team improved each year and went to the NBA Finals in 1977 before losing to the Portland Trail Blazers.

He later had coaching stints with the San Diego/Los Angeles Clippers and the Washington Bullets, and ended his coaching career after the '88-89 season.

A Baltimore native, Gene was an All-American at the University of Maryland, and went on to play 10 years in the NBA. He was an All-Star selection five times, and was a first-team All-NBA choice in 1960. Gene is an avid golfer and tennis player. He and his wife Sandy divide their time living in Cinnaminson, NJ, and Marina del Rey, CA.

Tony Dileo

DIRECTOR OF SCOUTING

Tony Dileo is entering his seventh season with the 76ers, his third as the team's director of scouting. He also has been an assistant coach and player personnel director with the club. His duties include all aspects of scouting, including future opponents, collegiate and CBA players, as well as following the progress of prospects playing in Europe.

Tony has extensive experience in international basketball, both as a player and as a coach. He was selected as the West German Basketball Federation national coach from 1981-85, and was the country's Coach of the Year in 1987.

In 1984, Tony wrote and published the European Basketball Handbook, a guide to accommodate American players overseas, and has also written a manual on rule differences among international basketball, the NBA and the NCAA.

A star at Cinnaminson (NJ) High School, Tony went on to play at Tennessee Tech and LaSalle (PA) University. As a senior at LaSalle, he was a first-team Academic All-American, and graduated first in his class from the School of Business.

CORESTATES CENTER

THE NEW HOME OF THE PHILADELPHIA 76ERS

The 1996-97 basketball season will be one for all fans of the Philadelphia 76ers to remember. The CoreStates Center, a brand-new state-of-the-art arena, will be home to the Sixers at the dawn of a new era and a new attitude that is guaranteed to generate thrills and fond memories for years to come in a comfortable, family atmosphere.

The 76ers have moved out of the CoreStates Spectrum, their home for 29 years. In that arena, Philadelphia compiled an overall winning record of 745-402 (.650).

Their new home, the CoreStates Center, offers many benefits to the patrons who will pass through the turnstiles this year and throughout the coming years.

Among the highlights of the new CoreStates Center:

- Seating capacity of the CoreStates Center is 21,000 for basketball (and most concerts) and 19,500 for hockey. There is increased leg room per seat and the unique oval design ensures that there are no obstructed-view seats. All levels are completely accessible to patrons with disabilities.
- Seven levels, including two general-seating concourse levels, three private premium-seating levels, a maintenance level and an event level.
- The 76ers Zone, which traces the history of the team from its inception in 1963 to the present "New Era" of 1996, includes full-motion touch-screen video kiosks, video walls with continuous 76ers highlights, giant cut-outs of 76ers greats and a 76ers memorabilia showcase. There is also a time-line feature showing the evolution of the 76ers to the present day. Fans can answer trivia questions, learn about Sixers history, see player profiles and more.
- A portrait gallery, with oversized photographs and biographies of each 76ers player, as well as the Sixers' two world championship banners.
- The CoreStates Showcase features a 16-monitor video wall with two interactive kiosks that entertains fans and gives them interesting information as well.
- The CoreStates Center is the only arena in America with its own microbrewery. The Red Bell Brewery and Pub, which brews many traditional and unique varieties on premises.
- The Victors Club, a private, glass-walled restaurant, is located on the club box level. Patrons can enjoy gourmet dining while watching the action on the arena floor or while viewing the beautiful Philadelphia skyline.
- An eight-sided video/matrix scoreboard hangs above center court for live action, replays, statistics and other pertinent information.

For general information about the CoreStates Center, call (215) 336-3600.

THE SIXERS & THE NBA

PARTNERS IN THE COMMUNITY

The National Basketball Association, its teams, players and coaches support programs dedicated to helping build a better future for all people, with a special emphasis on youth.

The 1996-97 season marks the debut of the NBA's league-wide community outreach initiative called the NBA TeamUp program. Its primary goal is to encourage youth to become actively involved in their communities. TeamUp helps young people develop an understanding of critical issues facing society and focuses on their ability to make a difference in the lives of others through community-service projects. Program components include public-service announcements, motivational visits by NBA spokesmen and players and a national youth service award.

This season the league also introduces the NBA Sportsmanship Initiative, a program designed to recognize and promote the importance of sportsmanship on the court. The nationwide program, implemented by the NBA in conjunction with the National Federation of State High School Associations, targets high school student-athletes participating in basketball. Each year, an NBA player will be selected to receive the NBA Sportsmanship Award for demonstrating sportsmanship throughout the season.

The NBA also continues its support of Black History Month, CARE, the Martin Luther King Jr. holiday, the National Committee to Prevent Child Abuse and Reading is Fundamental, through a variety of community outreach efforts.

In addition, the NBA's 29 teams remain actively involved in supporting and implementing various programs that positively impact their local communities in the United States and Canada.

PHILADELPHIA 76ERS 1996-97 COMMUNITY RELATIONS INITIATIVES & PROGRAMS

The goal of the Philadelphia 76ers community relations department is to establish a positive image for the organization through a proactive, year-round outreach program.

The 76ers are committed to making a difference in the lives of youth, with special emphasis on education, recreation and community service. Through specific partnerships and initiatives, the Philadelphia 76ers are striving to become part of the fabric of the Delaware Valley community. The programs and initiatives the 76ers will support for the 1996-97 season are diverse and include:

COMMUNITY PARTNERS

The Philadelphia 76ers have teamed-up with eight area youth organizations to recognize structured programs in the areas of education, recreation and community service. Each partner organization enjoys a "Night at the Sixers" including pregame entertainment of their board of directors and in-arena recognition. Partner organizations also receive player and alumni appearances, 76ers incentives, public-service announcements and financial support. Community partners share the same mission as the 76ers, of making a positive difference in the lives of the youth of the Delaware Valley. Community partner organizations include: The Big Brothers/Big Sisters Association, Boy Scouts of America, Boys and Girls Clubs of Delaware, Boys and Girls Clubs of Metropolitan Philadelphia, Catholic Youth Organization (CYO), Philadelphia Cares, Philadelphia Department of Recreation and Police Athletic League of Philadelphia (PAL).

76ers READ FOR RONALD

This community-service project encourages elementary and middle-school students to read and make a difference in their community by collecting pledges for pages read. Proceeds benefit the Ronald McDonald House of Philadelphia, with 10 percent of funds returned to participating schools. The Ronald McDonald House provides shelter and emotional support for families of critically ill children being treated at area hospitals. Last season, 76ers forward Clarence Weatherspoon was the spokesperson for this initiative that is based primarily in Philadelphia's suburban schools. More than 5,000 children at 15 participating schools read more than 1 million pages and raised more than $50,000 last year. All participants are recognized for their efforts at an April 76ers game. This year, the 76ers will launch this program with a January press conference and two public-service announcements. A number of participating schools will be recognized with a player visit. This year's goal is to expand the program by increasing the number of participating schools, students and dollars raised.

SIXERS SUMMER HOOPS TOUR/SHORE TOUR

This past summer, the 76ers took neighborhoods by storm. The community relations department teamed up with recreation departments in the tri-state area and scheduled 14 basketball clinics at recreation centers and neighborhood playgrounds. The tour, designed to teach basic basketball skills, is open to children of all ages. Clinic participants include 76ers radio voice Tom McGinnis, community player rep World B. Free, 76ers executive adviser Sonny Hill, and 76ers coaches, players, alumni, and front-office executives. Clinics ran approximately 1 1/2 hours, and all children were rewarded with a 76ers souvenir. Sixers Summer Hoops Tour/Shore Tour '96 reached each of the nine counties of the Delaware Valley. Twenty to 25 clinics are being planned for the summer of 1997.

THE SIXERS & THE NBA

SIXERS NEIGHBORHOOD BASKETBALL LEAGUE

This youth league is in partnership with the Philadelphia Department of Recreation and runs from November through April. The SNBL gives "at risk" youth, ages 9 to 18, the opportunity to learn basketball skills by participating in an organized league in a supervised facility. This year, it's estimated that 5,000 Philadelphia youths will play on 70 teams in 37 recreation department facilities. Twelve teams are invited to play on the CoreStates Center floor prior to a 76ers game. SNBL participants are also invited to attend other 76ers games. The 76ers have also included seven area colleges to partner in the SNBL

— Drexel University, LaSalle University, University of Pennsylvania, Philadelphia College of Textiles & Science, Villanova University, St. Joseph's University and Temple University. The colleges will host participants of the league at campus sporting events and campus tours, and invite SNBL volunteer coaches to attend basketball coaches' clinics. NIKE is a supporting sponsor of the Sixers Neighborhood Basketball League.

76ERS TEAMUP SCHOOL PROGRAM

The 76ers have partnered with the School District of Philadelphia in a unique youth initiative that encourages and recognizes community service, teamwork and positive attitude. The 76ers TeamUp program reflects the NBA's national program and mission of using its resources to positively influence young people in the areas of academic learning, personal development and civic responsibility. Teachers will assist students in developing and implementing community service projects that address human, environmental, or educational needs. TeamUp strives to build children's self-esteem and confidence and to develop them into caring citizens responsible for their behavior and surroundings. This program targets all ninth grade students in the school district. Forty Philadelphia public high schools serving approximately 19,412 ninth-grade students will participate in the program. Through Title 6, the school district offers each school financial support for materials for their service projects and a school district coordinator is assigned to oversee the TeamUp initiative at each school. Components of Team Up include 76ers incentives awarded to students throughout the school year who have demonstrated improvement in attendance, achievement and attitude. Students who implement community-service projects will be recognized at the 76ers vs. Atlanta game on March 6. Selected schools will receive player appearances for community-service projects that have made a significant difference in their neighborhood. McDonald's Corporation is a supporting sponsor of the TeamUp school program.

MEET THE TEAM TIP-OFF LUNCHEON

The Greater Philadelphia Chamber of Commerce and the Urban League of Philadelphia sponsor this event to kick off the basketball season. This luncheon is an opportunity for the Delaware Valley business community to meet the team, coaching staff, and 76ers executives. All proceeds benefit Chamber of Commerce programs. This is the second year for the luncheon.

CHARITABLE TICKET PROGRAM

This program offers non-profit organizations, mainly those serving the needs of children across the Delaware Valley, the opportunity to experience an NBA game. A total of 3,000 tickets are allotted to this program for the 1996-97 season. Each group is offered a maximum of 20 tickets to a game, once per season. Organizations are required to have at least 2 supervisors accompany the children.

CHARITABLE DONATIONS PROGRAM

The 76ers' community relations department responds to thousands of requests each year from community organizations in the Delaware Valley tri-state area. The 76ers contribute more than $100,000 of autographed memorabilia, auction items and tickets to assist these organizations in their fund-raising efforts.

SPEAKERS BUREAU

In order to better accommodate the many requests for speaking engagements, the 76ers initiated the Speakers Bureau. Several current and former players, coaches, broadcasters, executive management and other 76ers personnel actively participate in making appearances at community, civic and business organizations throughout the tri-state area.

SWEET LOU'S CREW

Sixers guard Lucious Harris is committed to making a difference in the lives of the youth in Philadelphia. Harris has partnered with the Philadelphia School District's A.B.L.E. (Acceptable Behavior and Learning Environment) Academies to participate in "Sweet Lou's Crew." Harris will invite 10 deserving students to 10 games throughout the 1996-97 season to sit in his special section. Each member of "Sweet Lou's Crew" will meet Harris prior to the game and receive an autographed picture and a Sixers bag. All 150 students of "Sweet Lou's Crew" will be recognized by Harris at a special celebration picnic at the end of the season. The A.B.L.E. Academies provide an environment conducive to academic success and positive behavior to students who consistently demonstrate disruptive behavior in the regular classroom setting. This program operates in off-school sites, and has the capacity to serve approximately 50 students at a time, with a more favorable teacher-to-student ratio of 1-to-15. There are currently six A.B.L.E. Academies operating in the Philadelphia School District.

SIXERS SLAM DUNK DIABETES HOLIDAY FESTIVAL

The 76ers have teamed up with the Juvenile Diabetes Foundation to "slam dunk" diabetes. A full-court holiday festival, the inaugural Sixers Slam Dunk Diabetes will take place on Sunday, Nov. 24, 1996 from 1-4 p.m. at the CoreStates Center. This family event will include silent and live auctions featuring items from Sixers players, alumni and current NBA greats. All 76ers players and coaches will participate in the day's activities. This is a unique opportunity for sports fans of the Delaware Valley to meet the players while helping a great cause. All proceeds from the festival will benefit JDF.

COMMUNITY RELATIONS PLAYER REPRESENTATIVES

Former 76ers stars World B. Free and Steve Mix make appearances throughout the Delaware Valley at schools, youth clubs, rotary clubs and numerous other civic and community organizations. Free, who spent four years with the Sixers during his 13-year NBA career, will debut "Basketball 101" this season. This program introduces the sport of basketball to a young audience by teaching basketball terminology and demonstrating basketball skills in a classroom setting. Graduates of "Professor Free's" one-time session will receive Sixers goodies and a diploma. Mix, who spent four years as the team's Director of Community Relations and will enter his ninth season as color analyst on 76ers television broadcasts, will continue to make appearances. The former Sixer forward's basketball and community relations experience serve as an excellent backdrop for his motivational speeches.

TICKET PRICES IN THE EARLY YEARS

When player salaries were not as lofty as today and teams did not have arenas with the large seating capacities now prevalent in the NBA, ticket prices for games were accordingly much cheaper than today, just like prices for clothing, food, etc. The first year of the 76ers in 1963-64, ticket prices for the games at Convention Hall were $1.50, $2, $2.75 and $3.50. They stayed the same the next season. In 1965-66, the top price soared to $4 with $3.25, $2.50 and $1.50 the other prices. These were also the prices when the 76ers won the NBA Title in 1966-67. In 1967-68, the first year in the Spectrum, the prices were $6, $5, $4, $3, and $2. They stayed that way through the 1974-75 season. Finally in 1975-76, the first year of George McGinnis, the prices went up a dollar to a $7 tops, and then began the steady rise to today's figures.

NINE MEN IN DOUBLE FIGURES

All nine 76ers players had double figures vs. Washington at the Spectrum Dec. 30, 1977 when the 76ers won 126-119. Doug Collins had 23, George McGinnis 19, Julius Erving 16, Henry Bibby 14, Lloyd Free and Darryl Dawkins 12 each and Caldwell Jones, Steve Mix and Joe Bryant 10 each. This feat of all players performing in a game hitting doubles is believed to be an NBA record. The 76ers also had 9 of 11 men in doubles vs. Denver on March 6, 1981. The last times the Sixers had 8 men in double figures were April 15, 1984 vs. Chicago and April 1, 1990 vs. Phoenix.

A HISTORICAL LOOK AT THE PHILADELPHIA 76ERS

The Philadelphia 76ers franchise actually began in 1949, when six teams from the midwest-based National Basketball League joined the Basketball Association of America to form the 17 team National Basketball Association. One of those teams was the Syracuse Nationals, which eventually became the Philadelphia 76ers. The Nats went 51-13 in their first NBA season under Al Cervi, and won the Eastern Division crown. The team was very successful in Syracuse, reaching the NBA final in both 1950 and 1954 both times losing to the Minneapolis Lakers. They finally broke through in 1955, taking their first, and only, NBA title by defeating the Fort Wayne Pistons 92-91 on April 10, 1955, taking the series 4-3. The team posted winning records in 11 of its 14 seasons in Syracuse.

The Nats were purchased by Philadelphia's Irv Kosloff and Ike Richman in the spring of 1963, and the NBA approved the franchise shift (May 22) and name change (Aug. 6) from the Nationals to the 76ers, returning professional basketball to Philly. (The Philadelphia Warriors had left for San Francisco following the 1961-62 season.) Nats star Dolph Schayes was named the Sixers first coach, and the team went 34-46 in its first season, finishing in third place. Guard Hal Greer was the star of that first Sixers team, averaging 23.3 ppg and becoming the first Sixers All-Star.

The first turning point for the franchise occurred on January 15, 1965, when the club acquired star center Wilt Chamberlain from the San Francisco Warriors for three players and cash. Chamberlain continued his NBA dominance, becoming the first Sixer to lead the NBA in scoring and rebounding while leading the team to its first Eastern Division title with a 55-25 record in '65-66.

Former Nats star and coach Alex Hannum succeeded Dolph Schayes as head coach prior to the '66-67 season, and the team picked up right where it left off, winning the Eastern Division title with a 68-13 record. The team then took the NBA title by defeating the San Francisco Warriors 4-2, clinching the series with a 125-122 win in game six on April 24 at the Cow Palace in San Francisco.

The '67-68 season saw the Sixers move from their old home, the Philadelphia Civic Center, to the new CoreStates Spectrum and Jack Ramsay became the team's first GM. They opened the building with a 103-87 win over the Los Angeles Lakers on October 18, 1967. Philly finished that season with a 62-20 record, taking their third straight Eastern Division title, but lost to the Boston Celtics 4-3 in the Eastern Conference Finals. Chamberlain etched his name yet again in the NBA recordbook in '67-68 by recording the NBA's only triple-double-double with 25 rebounds, 21 assists and 22 points in a 131-121 win over Detroit on February 2, 1968. Following the season, Ramsay succeeded Alex Hannum as Sixers head coach, and became the first person in team history to hold the dual role of head coach and general manager. The team just missed its fourth straight division title in '67-68, finishing second with a 55-27 mark, and was dethroned by the Boston Celtics in the opening round of the playoffs. Don DeJardin succeeded Ramsay as GM in the 1970-74 period.

Age and injuries then took their toll on the franchise. The '71-72 team became the first Sixers team to finish below .500 (30-52), and the 1972-73 squad became one of the more infamous teams in league annals, posting the worst mark in NBA history at 9-73 with Roy Rubin and Kevin Loughery splitting the coaching chores. Gene Shue's appointment as head coach on June 15, 1973 and the selection of Doug Collins with the first pick of the '73 NBA Draft began the Sixers return as an NBA power. Pat Williams' reign as GM ran from 1974 to 1986. They also added a key frontcourt player with the signing of free agent George McGinnis on July 10, 1975. Collins and McGinnis formed the foundation for the Sixers mid-'70's rise, as Collins averaged 17.9 ppg and garnered four All-Star game selections in his injury-shortened eight season career, while McGinnis averaged 21.6 ppg and a pair of All-Star nods in his three Sixers campaigns.

The team steadily improved, highlighted by a 50-32 Atlantic Division title in '76-77 and a playoff run that saw them reach the '77 NBA Finals, where they were turned back by former coach Jack Ramsay and the Portland Trail Blazers in six games.

Philly then made its most storied move. On October 21, 1976, the Sixers purchased Julius Erving's contract from the New York Nets and on November 3, 1977, Billy Cunningham replaced Gene Shue as Sixers head coach. The team took their second straight Atlantic Division crown with a 55-27 record, but lost to the Washington Bullets in the Eastern Conference Finals.

However, the stage was now set, and their run continued as one of the elite teams in the NBA over the better part of the next decade, winning no less than 52 games in seven straight seasons between 1979-80 and 1985-86, including three appearances in the NBA Finals. Their most memorable season during that era was 1982-83. The team, led by Erving, Moses Malone and All-Star guard Maurice Cheeks, posted a 65-17 regular season record and went on a 12-1 rampage through the NBA playoffs. They capped the championship off with a 4-0 sweep of the Los Angeles Lakers in the Finals. Current Sixers owner Harold Katz purchased the team from Fitz Dixon in July of 1981, and helped guide them to the title in his second ownership season.

Billy Cunningham continued at the helm until June 14, 1985, when he was replaced by Matt Guokas. The team, still led by Malone and Erving and a budding star named Charles Barkley, continued its run as one of the NBA's elite, finishing with a 54-28 mark in '85-86. The GMs were John Nash, 1986-90, Shue 1990-92, and Jim Lynam 1992-94. More recent successes have included the 1989-90 Atlantic Division title (under Lynam) and the club's 2,000th franchise victory on December 13, 1994, over the Miami Heat. John Lucas was hired as head coach and general manager on June 14, 1994. The sale of the club from Katz to Comcast Corp. and Pat Croce was approved by the NBA on April 24, 1996. Brad Greenberg was named general manager on May 8, 1996. Johnny Davis replaced Lucas as coach June 10, 1996.

A WILT RECORD THAT STILL STANDS

Everyone is familiar with the league record 100 points that Wilt Chamberlain scored in 1962 versus the Knicks, but it is not as widely known that he also holds the league record for assists (21) by a center. He achieved this figure Feb. 2, 1968 vs. Detroit. Maurice Cheeks equalled that figure to tie Wilt for the club mark on Oct. 30, 1982 vs. the Nets, but of course Cheeks is a guard.

76ERS VS. LEAGUE RIVALS

Against the NBA's current franchise holders the 76ers show an overall winning record of 1974 victories and 1680 defeats in regular season play, a winning percentage of .540. The playoffs record has the 76ers with 175 victories and 153 defeats, a percentage of .534. Only Boston, the LA Lakers, Charlotte, Orlando, Phoenix, San Antonio and Milwaukee of the current franchise holders have a won-lost advantage over the 76ers. The records include the 1946-49 National League Games.

CLUB NICKNAME

The late Walter Stahlberg, of West Collingswood, New Jersey, won a contest to name the club in 1963. The choice of the club's nickname was announced on August 6, 1963. There were almost 500 different suggestions among the entries and Stahlberg was one of several who picked the 76ers. However, his accompanying 25-word explanation was deemed the best by the judges, and he and his wife received an all-expense trip to the West Coast to see the 76ers play San Francisco.

76ers BANNER YEAR ON THE ROAD

The 76ers of 1976-77 (632,994) were the biggest road attraction in NBA history until 1984-85 (in 1995-96 Chicago sold out every road game attracting 816,705 fans; 19,920 avg.). They drew 33 sellouts in 41 outings for a 15,439 average. In Buffalo they drew the largest opening crowd in the Braves' history two days after Julius Erving was signed. They drew the largest crowd of the year in Kansas City and the two largest in New Orleans including a then record-breaking 27,383. They drew sellouts in both their appearances in Atlanta, Washington, Houston, San Antonio, Cleveland, Chicago, Milwaukee, Detroit, Denver, Los Angeles, Golden State, Portland, Seattle, New York and Boston and in their lone game in Phoenix. They drew sellouts in one of their two games in both New Orleans and Indiana. Only in Buffalo, Kansas City and the Nets did they fail to have any sellouts. Their smallest road crowd was 8,792 at Buffalo in a rescheduled snowed-out game. Their only other crowd under 10,938 was a 9,633 total in their first game with the Nets. By divisions they sold out all 9 games in the Pacific Division; 11 out of 12 in the Central Division, 9 out of 12 in the Midwest Division and only 4 out of 8 in the Atlantic Division. They also had sellouts in all 9 road playoff games to wind up an unparalleled record in the league's history at that time.

RON POLLACK HAS UNIQUE DISTINCTION

When Ron Pollack worked the 1996 Olympics at Atlanta, he completed a triple unparalleled in basketball. Ron was a supervisor of the statistical crews for men and women at Atlanta. Previously he had worked the NCAA finals at the Spectrum in 1976 and the NBA finals here in both 1967 and again in 1983. Ron is the computer expert at the 76ers press table, being the main inputter in providing the statistics that Core States Center fans see flashed both on the main scoreboard and also the side panels.

ONE OF A KIND

This game was originally played on Wednesday, Nov. 8, 1978, with the 76ers beating New Jersey 137-133 in double overtime. The game was protested with 5:50 remaining in the third quarter with the 76ers leading 84-81, because the referees had erred in calling third technical fouls on New Jersey Coach Kevin Loughery and player Bernard King. The game was replayed from the 5:50 mark of the third period on Friday, March 23, 1979. Eric Money, who was with New Jersey, and Harvey Catchings and Ralph Simpson, who were with the 76ers, were involved in a trade on Feb. 7, 1979, and ended up playing for both teams in the game. The game is unique for several reasons, according to Dick Pfander of Beulah, Michigan. It's the only game in NBA history in which players played for both teams in the same game. It's the only game in NBA history in which 13 players played for one team (New Jersey). It's the only game in NBA history in which 25 men played for both teams. It's also one of the very few games in NBA history where a protest was upheld and part of a game was replayed. It MAY be the only game in pro team sports history in which players played for both teams in the same league game. The box score: Wed Nov. 8, 1978/Fri. Mar. 23, 1979 at the Spectrum, Phila.
